*this shows the difference that would exist between groups if they had the same y-value at time 0